POPE'S SISTER DIES; SHOCK IS TOO GREAT

Collapses When Her Brother Passes Away and Never Rallies

CONCLAVE TO BE HELD SOON

Funeral Rites for Late Pontiff to Be of Simple Nature; Cardinals Mourn

ROME, Aug. 20.—The body of Pope Pius X, who died peacefully this morning, has been laid in state for thousands to view. The pathos of this passing has been accentuated by the death of his sister Anna. Always she was at his bedside in times of sickness and she was kneeling near him when he breathed his last.

The sister was assisted from the room and collapsed soon afterward. Dr. Amico attended her, but alarming symptoms developed, with high fever, from which she did not rally.

The day broke cloudy and heavy after exquisitely clear skies. It seemed as though nature was in mourning for the pope, most beloved by the people of Rome.

Funeral Rites to Be Simple.

At noon the Vatican, many gathered. The great doors were half closed and those who mourned spoke in whispers. Within the Vatican preparations were in progress for the funeral ceremonies, which will be of a simple nature and for the holding of the conclave to select the new pope.

It is expected that the conclave will be held early in September, even though all the cardinals are not in Rome. The new pope will be the first pontiff elected without the veto previously accorded foreign powers; as one of the first acts of Pius X was to suppress this privilege of centuries, although he owed his own election to it.

The cardinals met at the Vatican this afternoon for their first session as a sign of mourning. Cardinals Dalla Volpe and Merri Del Val went to the pope's apartment to affix seals on the late pontiff's private papers and documents.

Take Possession of Ring.

The chamberlain took possession of the fisherman's ring, which was recovered when Pope Leo died. The old fisherman's ring having been lost at that time. Cardinal Della Volpe installed himself in the Vatican occupying the apartment of the papal secretary of state, who has removed to the Santa Maria house behind the Vatican, where Cardinal Rampolla lived and died.

The cardinals visited the death-chamber, where they viewed the body of the pope, which lay on a sloping bier, covered with a white cloth, under a rich red canopy. The body was clothed in a white robe and cape. Red silk gloves covered the hands on the fingers of which glittered the rings of his office. A mitre of cloth of gold was on his head.

Cardinals Weep Beside Body.

The face of the late pontiff was startlingly waxen. In profile, it was quite recognizable, but sadly changed. All knelt, and after prayer, some of the cardinals handed to the monsignors standing on each side of the body their crucifixes and medals, which the monsignors laid for a moment on the dead fingers, and those privileged themselves placed the crucifixes on the hands and also kissed the feet clad in red slippers. Not a few of them were overcome with emotion and wept silently, and when they left the chamber, it was with the prayer that he would have eternal rest.

From 5 to 7 o'clock this evening the body lay in state in the throne room, to which all classes were admitted. A great crowd, clad in black, entered the throne room reverently praying and many of them weeping.

Solemnity is Impressive.

The solemnity was rendered more pronounced by the majesty of the hall, the medieval uniforms of the guard and the dress of the court dignitaries.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK IS MUCH IMPROVED, DECLARES MORGAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Reports of decided improvement in the general condition of the country and the financial situation in New York were brought to the treasury department today by J. P. Morgan and William Porter, a member of the Morgan firm. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Porter spent nearly two hours in conference with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and members of the federal reserve board. Messages reached the treasury department today from bankers in many cities of the country, from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, of improved conditions and a return to normal. In many cases clearing house certificates are no longer used by banks and are demand from country institutions for being met promptly.

GERMANY MENACE TO PEACE IN FAR EAST, SAYS JAPAN

SUPPLY AND DEMAND CAUSE OF INCREASE, DECLARE PACKERS

Interferes With Shipping of Deny War Is Responsible for Orient and Seizes British Vessels, Charge

Bust in Prices of Foodstuffs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Interference by German cruisers with the shipping of Japan's ally, Great Britain, with the seizure of Japanese goods in German bottoms and the consequent grave injury to Japanese trade are the chiefest reasons set forward by Japan in explanation of the ultimatum delivered to Germany last Sunday.

Cable dispatches have contained a brief outline of the Japanese grievances, but it was not until today that the full text of the statement issued by the Japanese foreign office bearing upon this subject became available. This document said:

Outline of Grievances.

From the beginning of hostilities between England and Germany, the latter has been bending all her energies to strengthening all the fortifications at Kiao Chow, even to the extent of enforcing a blockade upon them by the Chinese coödles. Meanwhile, the German squadrons stationed in the far east have been incessant in appearances in Chinese waters, making Kiao Chow their base, and, in cooperation with German-converted pirates, threatening and inflicting to a considerable extent the commercial interests of Great Britain.

In the meantime, the above action on the part of Germany has not failed to greatly demoralize the trade interests of Japan by obstructing and disturbing her shipping routes and commerce. In fact, the whole eastern commercial world has been thrown into a state of utmost uneasiness.

"Some of the Japanese merchant vessels have been detained and all of the Japanese import and export cargoes on board the German merchant vessels have been requisitioned."

"It is clear that unless Germany has a strong base at Kiao Chow, such as above outlined could never have been produced. It is the possession of Kiao Chow that is solely responsible for it all; it is the strongest weapon in the hands of Germany, as far as the far east is concerned."

The history of the seizure of the city by Germany and her conduct preceding and including her intervention in conjunction with Russia and France after the Chinese-Japanese war, show that it is absolutely necessary to eliminate such possession completely if Japan is to restore immediate peace in the far east in accordance with the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. If Japan is to look far enough into the future and adopt measures to insure an abiding peace in eastern Asia, she must realize that a strong military base in the hands of a hostile militant power, right in the heart of the country, cannot in itself fail to be a menacing factor.

COWBOYS SHOOT UP RAILROAD STATION

LEADVILLE, Colo., Aug. 21 (Friday).—Word reached this city early this morning from Wolcott, a station on the Denver & Rio Grande, west of here, that a band of cowboys invaded the depot and became involved in an alteration with the station agent, F. Croome. He was shot five times and is not expected to live. The cowboys disappeared and a posse organized by the sheriff is in pursuit.

NEW POLITICAL ERA DAWNS

Given Keys of City and Is Bid Welcome by the Down-trodden Throng

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, the supreme chief of the Mexican revolution and from-day provisional president of the republic, entered the capital at noon. He was given an enthusiastic reception by the crowds on the streets.

It is estimated that more than 150,000 persons crowded the line of march of the new president and his followers, which extended from the village of Alzate up to the national palace, a distance of six miles. There was not the slightest disorder as General Carranza and his staff passed through the cheering crowds which showered them with flowers and confetti, and from which came cries of "Long live Carranza!"

VILLA HAS FORCE OF 40,000 MEN

MAY START A COUNTER REVOLUTION

U. S. Trying to Prevail Upon Northern Leader to Drop His Plans

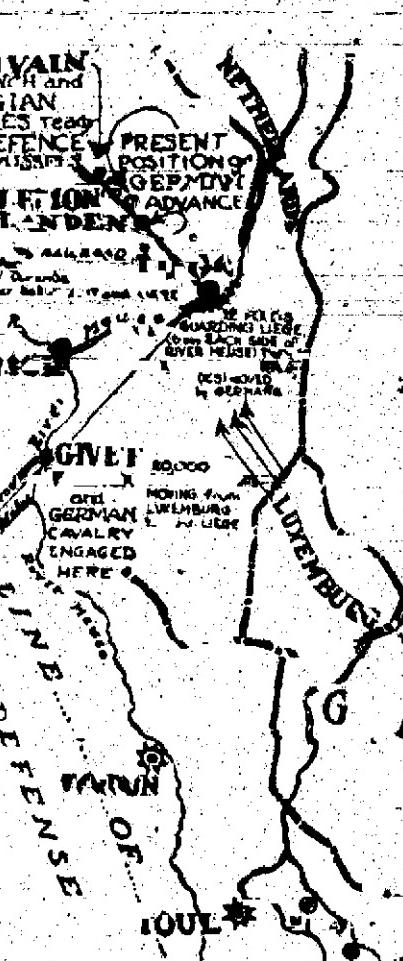

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Official reports to the Washington government estimate the number of troops in command of General Villa, in northern Mexico, at no less than 40,000 men. This is a much larger number than had been supposed, and is the result of several weeks' of recruiting during the fall which followed Huerta's abdication.

Administration officials are uncertain about Villa's intentions. They have various assurances that he does not intend to begin a counter revolution, but his preparations, it is admitted, have a sinister aspect.

Paul Fuller, who is personal representative of President Wilson, went to Chihuahua and interviewed General Villa, but made no telegraphic report of his conference, but is expected back in Washington in a few days.

There are intimations, however, that except for a statement from Villa as to the reasons for his dissatisfaction with what he terms Carranza's ingratitude toward him, Fuller has no more definite assurances, it is said, than previously had been given by Villa.

The Washington government, it is understood, will not relax its efforts to prevent a counter revolution in northern Mexico.

WILSON DISAPPROVES OF SCHEME

Does Not Want to Incur the Displeasure of Japan and England

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Most significant of the day's developments in the European situation here was the inquiry by the Chinese government of the United States whether the latter would undertake the retribution of the territory of Kiao Chow, transferring it immediately from Germany to China.

China's inquiry was understood to have been based on an acquiescence of Germany in such a plan, hoping thereby to avert a war with Japan. While officials were generally reticent to express any opinions, it was generally believed that the American government would not accept the proposal of Japan unless both Japan and Great Britain formally assented.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have strenuously avoided thus far involving the United States in any way in the situation, and there is every indication that this attitude will be strictly maintained.

China, Neutral.

China's endeavor to obtain the territory of Kiao Chow and at the same time preserve neutral relations with Germany, Japan and Great Britain were manifest in disputes from Peking. In any event, China indicated clearly her intention of remaining absolutely neutral.

Diplomatic dispatches from Europe contained little information concerning the policies of the war. Colville Barclay, chargé d'affaires of the British embassy, inquired of Secretary Bryan when a decision on the cable-wireless controversy might be available and learned that none had yet been reached.

Several peace organizations have asked the administration's attitude toward peace meetings which they planned as a demonstration against war. The president did not disapprove, but suggested that such meetings refer to individual countries in the present war be permitted.

Belgians Retreat to Antwerp, as Invaders Intrench Selves for Supreme Test of Strength

GERMAN EMPEROR WILL NOT YIELD TO TERMS OF JAPANESE ULTIMATUM

Death of Pope May Exert Influence for Peace; Russians Are Pressing the Germans on Eastern Border

The Germans have taken Brussels, the capital of Belgium. It was here that the Duke of Wellington danced at night and sallied forth in the morning to meet his army at Quatre Bras for the battle of Waterloo. Once strongly fortified, the capital for years has been without armament with which to resist attack.

The German army, it was officially reported last night, was pressing its advantage in Brussels by throwing large numbers of troops into the city, while the Belgians were retreating unmolested on Antwerp, to which city the seat of government was removed a few days ago. The official announcement of the German victory at Brussels did not mention the casualties on either side.

FRENCH RETAKE MUELHAUSEN

French official advises stated that Muelhausen in Alsace had been recaptured by the French from Germans, who were said to be retreating on the Rhine, but in Lorraine it was admitted the Germans had forced the French to fall back on their bases.

On Germany's eastern frontier there has been considerable outpost fighting, which would indicate that the Russians are completing their work of concentration.

There have been no serious collisions in the eastern war zone as yet; however, Austria is too much engaged with Russia and with the need of helping Germany to make much progress in her campaign against Serbia. No news has been received of any naval movements, either in the North sea or the Mediterranean.

DEATH OF POPE AUGURS FOR PEACE

The death of Pope Pius X will be made the occasion for another effort to bring about peace. It is stated that when the conclave meets in Rome to elect a new pope, it will send an appeal to the warring nations for peace and will ask the United States to aid in bringing about tranquillity.

According to the few items of news which have been allowed to come in from Berlin, something like normal conditions prevail in the German capital. The price of food is declining, and now, the troop movement having been completed, a resumption of general work on railways is beginning.

Confirmation has been received of the report that Emperor William has ordered resistance to any effort that Japan may make to seize Kiao Chow.

GERMANS FOLLOWING UP THEIR ADVANTAGES

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The German cavalry have occupied Brussels. This morning many prisoners and 21 guns, of which were captured by the British embassy, inquired of Secretary Bryan when a decision on the cable-wireless controversy might be available and learned that none had yet been reached.

Several peace organizations have asked the administration's attitude toward peace meetings which they planned as a demonstration against war. The president did not disapprove, but suggested that such meetings refer to individual countries in the present war be permitted.

What was the white you touched, there at his side? Paper his hand had clutched tight ere he died; Message or wish, may be smooth out the folds and see.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and meagerly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair, kills dandruff and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can visibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or brush with it, drawing this tonic on the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and yet appear years younger.

panza, long live constitutional government!"

At dawn today the Constitutional troops began forming at close intervals in a double line along the entire distance over which the victorious Constitutional leader was to pass. Back of the troops were ranged the sight-seers and every roof of the houses also had spectators.

Given Keys of City

It was near noon when General Carranza, mounted on a superb horse and accompanied by his staff and the guards of the north west, the central and northeast division of the Constitutional army, in full array, marched past. He was followed by a cavilion of cavalry and the Fourth Section, formation of mounted, which acted as the guard of honor. On reaching the city limits the column was met by the massed men of the city council of the capital who gave to General Carranza the keys of the city.

After this ceremony the cavilion proceeded to the historic Chateau castle where two batteries of artillery fired a salute in honor of the new chief executive. Here the cavilion turned down the beautiful Pasado de Belen, avenue which was destined by the unfortunate Empress Carlotta to lead from the castle to the national palace.

Greeted by School Children

Along this section of line of march were grommed hundreds of school children dressed in white, each carrying a bouquet and a Mexican flag. As Carranza passed they sang a hymn written for the occasion entitled "Union and Liberty."

With the processions reached the national theater of Madrid. The executive night secretary of the hotel, a delegation of workmen from the Hacienda Diaz, arrived.

Passing down the Avenida San Francisco the crowd gave the new president a unanimous ovation. This ovation leads to the historic Plaza de la Constitución, the cathedral and the national and municipal palaces. During this ovation the immense throng had been gathered suddenly in the morning and cheered General Carranza as he passed through the main entrance of the national palace.

Promises New Political Era.

A few moments after he entered he appeared on the balcony under the liberty belt and addressed the crowd promising a new era of real constitutional government. The troops then passed in review before the new executive. A band of 200 pieces massed in the square meanwhile, playing martial airs.

The day was a holiday and all places of business were closed.

President Carranza's Address

In his address, President Carranza said that after months of visitation by press and the enemies of democracy the people had at last come to understand that the true purpose of the Constitutionalists was to give a government for all the people and not for a few and part of them.

He assured the populace that the revolution was over and the Constitutionalists had no desire to wreak their vengeance on the members of the old regime. He said, however, that he now intended to catch up with the persons guilty of crimes against the state with stern justice, but that he would be very lenient with those who had not sinned.

Urged to Avoid Holland

The president urged the people to support the new regime, which had him to Spain in November of last year to Mexico.

After reviewing the troops they were sent to the barracks and the new executive occupied the residence of three daughters, left to the private residence.

Beds in Famous Old Chair

During the ceremony in the Congress Palace, President Carranza said the guided chair once owned by Benito Juarez, called the "Chair of Mexico."

As the presidential carriage is not yet fully organized the diplomatic corps was not present in the room although the Brazilian minister, Dr. R. Silviano, presented a telegram to President Wilson and Senator Martin, the personal representative of King Alfonso, were among the hundreds who congratulated President Carranza.

Gen. Panfilo Nicanor Diaz, Tomas Dominguez, served on the committee which arranged the reception, attended this afternoon with their former foes of Constitutionalists.

Gen. Jesus Gomez Garza, former governor of Michoacan, was arrested here today charged with the murder of 10 men in the town of Velazquez while he was judge of that place.

Gen. Leopoldo Ruiz Cespedes has been arrested at Tolosa.

The adages of the American Army are three days work in a hospital and two days in a trench.

On August 10, Vaast, Reiter and Dr. George L. Williams, surgeon to the 10th U. S. Cavalry, were sent to Mons to assist in the removal of the wounded from the battle of Charleroi. They were to be sent to the hospital at Tournai.

WAGONER FORCED TO DEFAULT TO KNOWLTON AFTER HOURS OF EXHAUSTING COURT PLAY

New Star Forces Veteran to Lose Two Sets and Gives Up at Dark; Long Play and Rain Cause Matches to Go Over.

A new hero carved a niche in the Colorado Springs hall of tennis fame yesterday at the Cheyenne Mountain Country club and as the result, Dan Knowlton, veteran of the courts, had the narrowest escape of the season. C. H. Wagoner is the new star and for two hours yesterday he battled with the Springs man in the semifinals of the tournament. Wagoner won the first set, 6-4, and lost the second, 5-7. He came back and won the third set, 6-3, and lost the fourth, 7-9, in a thrilling exhibition of tennis. Both players were exhausted from the terrific strain. Wagoner was unable to rally his strength and defaulted the last set, although Knowlton offered to postpone it. The matches were interrupted several times by rain.

Wagoner's play is "fiendishly accurate," as a Country club expert stated yesterday. The new star has a nasty cut on all his strokes and plays a smashing game at the net. It was the first real dangerous competition that Knowlton has faced this year.

The Knowlton-Wagoner match was so prolonged that it was impossible to stage the semifinals between Knowlton and Kernochan and Ewing and Petersius, but this will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The rain broke up the Evans-Oliver semifinal match but will be finished this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Evans won the first set, 6-2, and Oliver was leading in the second, 3-2. From all appearances Evans will be the finalist to oppose Knowlton tomorrow.

In the consolation Thorsen beat Garver, 4-6, 6-3, 9-7, and Lansing defaulted to Seldomridge.

One of the feature matches this afternoon will be the semifinals in the doubles between Hungerford and Spiegel and Bassell and Wagoner. Shaffer will meet Seldomridge in the consolation semifinals and Scott and Thorsen will play the semifinal round. These matches will be played at 3:30 o'clock.

OUIMET EXHIBITS WONDERFUL FORM IN FIRST ROUND

and Tom McNamara to Be
In at the Finish

CHICAGO Aug 20—Francis Ouimet, defending his title today, made a splendid 89 in the first round of the 72-hole finals of the national open golf tournament at Midlothian club, within one of the course record set this afternoon by Walter C. Hagen of Rochester. Ouimet and Hagen both fell off in the second round taking 76 and 74 respectively.

Hagen's total of 142 led the field of 87 in the first day's play and gave him a good chance for the title.

Ouimet totaled 145, temporary second place going to Tom McNamara of Boston who scored an even balanced 146.

Charles Evans Jr., western amateur champion, and Warren K. Wood, former western title holder, finished well up in the list with 150 each. W. L. Baum, Banfield, a public links product of Chicago who recently won the city championship, made a good score of 151.

The other amateurs finished further down in the list. K. P. Edwards took 173 and Jack Neville, Pacific coast champion, scored 174. Donald Edwards, 161, and Louis Jacobs of Dallas barely remained in the event with 163. All those over the 163 were eliminated by the rules.

The best scores for the day were made by native Americans including

Two American league players unfortunately fired by the Yanks bought back within minutes and made good. Bert Creer is shown on the left and Ben Daniels on the right. Both were playing with the Yankees last year. Creer was sold to the Baltimore International for $2,000, which however saw fit to buy him back for $5,000 leaving a little bit of change in the hands of the Baltimore marksmen as a result of the deal. Creer is now leading the American league in hitting. Daniels, like Creer, was sold to the Baltimore International but Baltimore sold him back

TO BE AN AERIAL WAR

The Present European Struggle Will Prove Air Crafts' Worth

from the Kansas City Star
Talk to a person five minutes about the war. Webster brought up to date by night, "Talk to about the European war." And your conversation turns on the actual phase of the conflict. To one and all that's the spectacular feature.

Ever since the craft have become objects of common knowledge there has been much talk of their revolutionizing the methods of war. There has also been much contention, even among experts, that flying machines would never fit the practical purposes of military needs.

As improvements have come on the heels of improvements, the discussion has turned to the mounted with rapid-fire rates of fire, in which type of flying vessel to use. It is now known that the most efficient aerial combat soldiers with machine guns. All demonstration flights have shown that the world's questions are being answered. The general conclusion is that the best way to keep up the morale of the troops is to keep them flying.

The rest which shall decide the relative efficiency of different types is now at hand and actually going on.

Germany's Hope in Zeppelins.

Already two giant Zeppelin dirigibles labor on the pride of Germany's aircrafts. In the first stages of the contest, the Zeppelins have been widely conceded among aviation experts to represent the highest efficiency in aerial warfare. On them Germany bases its hopes of victory. The British, however, are not so sure. They believe that the British air force is far behind the German air force in aerial warfare. The British believe that the Germans are their greatest threat and are their greatest concern.

It may be expected that, in the beginning of the war, there were 12 such craft owned by the government. Each is said to be from four to six hundred feet long and armed with machine guns. They are also highly maneuverable and can pass through the clouds. The Zeppelin, which with its crew of 20 is said to travel at 100 miles an hour, is typified as the British believe it will be half one-half the size of all the semi-rigid and nonrigid types. Such experts as Glenn H. Curtiss, these are considered inferior to the military aeroplanes.

Where Aeroplanes Are Superior.

Aeroplanes cannot vie with Zeppelins in the matter of carrying armfuls of bombs and crew, but what they lack in this respect is made up in their superior speed and by the fact that they offer a smaller target for the enemy's guns. Their efficiency as Zeppelin destroyers was one of the first subjects of discovery of Germany. They are lightly armored and the fuselage and engines and each mounts a machine gun rapid fire. In an English test a gun on an aeroplane made 11 hits out of 14 aimed fired at the rate of 600 a minute from a height of 600 feet.

To this type of military aircraft, France has pinned her faith and hope just as has Germany to the Zeppelins. Each of the nations for several years has been devoting untiring energy to amassing a fleet of its favorite machines. Millions of dollars have been expended in the subscription in both countries. There has never been any reasonable ground for doubt as to the success of these pronouncements. The Entente leaders have continually professed against what they called the barbarism of the other, then professing to do the same.

This seemingly friendly contest between the two powers will continue to dominate winter in all the most prominent cities in Europe. The authorities of each nation have avoided publicity, although it is known that the other might not know just what to expect and so that their own service might be the more effective. The results, only partially revealed at present, show these two old enemies leading the world's fatigued powers in various sources of war as follows:

U. S. MAY PURCHASE FIVE GERMAN STEAMERS

The most wonderful thing in the world is love expressed in the helpless infant. And among those who do comfort for expectant mothers is the well-known "Mother's Friend." This is an external application to enable the abdomen of muscle to become more pliable to expand naturally. Without it, no baby can be born in the normal manner.

After birth, the first remark of mother is how well the baby is supplied. This is a sign of the period of expectant life in comfort. There is no greater relief upon the breast of the mother than the arrival of the baby.

RAILROADS OWNED BY GERMAN STATES

The Traveler Gets His Money's Worth on the State Owned Railroads in Germany

WILL PAYNE in the Baltimore Evening Post: As soon as you cross the German frontier something that is deader than death comes into your consciousness. Practically all the railroads there are state-owned and owned by the imperial government, but by the several German states. The state of Prussia and Hesse are managed as one system. They give hardly the best service in Europe, but at the low fares when service is taken into account.

To begin with the German states, the only railroad owners in Europe that have made any attempt to run a train on the international sleeping car monopoly either for the sake of economy or for the sake of state ownership, if it were not for the other fact that state-owned lines elsewhere in Europe either stick to the slow car concern or attempt to imitate it.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH IN GERMANY.

So to begin over again, we must start with the fact that with a set of cars or a set from state operation of railroads depends on what sort of state doing the operating. In Prussia, does it with considerable success, no manager observes will dem.

High international travel running on Prussian lines is very slow, paying of the Poles or even from the prusso to the Swiss. It is slow, slow, slow travel—everywhere in Germany. They are good cars, too, better than those of the International concern with compartments somewhat larger and more conveniently arranged. And the fares are decidedly lower.

For example, the journey from Berlin to Basel is only 10 hours shorter than that from Paris to Berlin. The price of a berth for the latter journey international concern is $5.50. The price of a berth for the former journey is $1.15.

Prussian sleeping cars are quite as large as those in France, but they have a more in length, as though they had been built with this in mind.

The first class compartments are quite as large as those in France, but they have a more in length, as though they had been built with this in mind.

The first class compartments are quite as large as those in France, but they have a more in length, as though they had been built with this in mind.

Of course, there is only one long seat in each compartment, so that half the passengers ride backward, but that is inevitable in European travel. On the continent trains have a great habit of changing ends every 40 miles and then you go into a station with the engine at one end and get out with it at the other end. This may be for engineering reason, but I assume it is primarily for the purpose of giving all passengers a chance to sit forward part of the time.

CHEAPER THAN OUR PULLMANS.

The Pullman sleeping cars are cheaper than the Pullman accommodations installed to insure the fast sleep and rest in the compartments. You should have a Pullman ticket when using a sleeping car in France, Italy, Switzerland, or the continent all to yourself. To get a compartment all to yourself on Paris to Berlin you must pay a first-class fare and a half or $1.75. Thus the Prussian sleeping car is a genuine睡房 of that charged by the International company for similar accommodations, though even that the accommodations are not as good for the Pullman cars, on the whole, are more comfortable.

To get a compartment all to yourself on Paris to Berlin you must pay a first-class fare and a half or $1.75. Thus the Prussian sleeping car is a genuine睡房 of that charged by the International company for similar accommodations, though even that the accommodations are not as good for the Pullman cars, on the whole, are more comfortable.

Of course, there is only one long seat in each compartment, so that half the passengers ride backward, but that is inevitable in European travel. On the continent trains have a great habit of changing ends every 40 miles and then you go into a station with the engine at one end and get out with it at the other end. This may be for engineering reason, but I assume it is primarily for the purpose of giving all passengers a chance to sit forward part of the time.

THE DAWN OF DEMOCRACY

ONE conclusion as to the final results of the European war can be safely made even at this early date, namely it will mean the dawn of a new democracy throughout Europe. And, naturally, the greatest strides toward popular government will be made in those countries which are now most intensely monarchial, such as Russia, Germany and Austria-Hungary.

The crushing defeat administered to Russia by the Japanese ten years ago brought to the losers one benefit which went a long way toward compensating for the loss of prestige. The war afforded an opportunity for a more effective spread of the reform propaganda than had been possible in times of peace. After it ended the Czar found himself threatened with a domestic revolution of no mean proportions. It was too deep-seated, too far-reaching to be crushed out with an army which was itself discontented and rebellious, and the result was a wise compromise—the establishment of the Duma, or representative assembly which, though its powers seem ludicrously limited judged by our standards of representative government, is nevertheless a long step forward.

And already the present crisis has wrung from the Czar substantial concessions to a section of his population that has probably suffered more from the rigors of Russian rule than any other—the Poles. It was more than a century and a half ago that the kingdom of Poland was despised by an alliance of Russia, Prussia and Austria, and divided by its conquerors. The partition of Poland still stands in history as perhaps the most atrocious political crime ever committed, and to the everlasting credit of the Poles be it said that they are no more reconciled to alien rule today than they were when their subjugation was completed. In the Polish provinces of Germany and Austria the repression has been bad enough but in Russia it has been intolerable and it could be indeed amazing if the Polish subjects of the Czar now tell the slight sprout of liberty to him.

But it appears that Russian Poland is on the German border. It is the country which will be first invaded by the Germans, and it is highly important that the people be persuaded in some way to maintain at least a nominal loyalty to the Russian government. Fortunately in this crisis the Czar has the good sense to make concessions instead of threats, in an effort manifestly to win his Polish autonomy as a reward for loyalty.

The boy has started when the sacred dream of your fathers may be realized a hundred and fifty years ago. In Poland was born to pass but he survived and she lived in hope that her Polish people would come in hour of retribution to end colonization with Russia.

The Russian people in the second wave of its reaction to why it is the frontiers are strong in Polish people whom it unites completely in the spirit of the czar of Russia. Under this spirit Poland will be born again free in her religion and her language and autonomy.

Russia expects from you only the loyalty to which history has bound you. With open heart and a brotherhood extended great Russia comes to meet you. She desires that the sword which struck her enemies at Grunewald be not rusted.

Russia from the shores of the Pacific ocean to the North sea marches in arms. The dawn of a new life commences for you. In this glorious dawn is seen the sign of the cross—the symbol of suffering and the resurrection of a people.

It would be easy to tear this hibernal rhetoric to tatters, but the important point is that the Czar makes a definite promise of autonomy, the first promise of the kind that has been made to any section of his subjects of the present generation. And whatever the outcome of the war may be, he cannot repudiate that promise if he will, for the spirit of liberty will grow stronger and more courageous amid the distractions of this conflict, just as it did during the war with Japan.

The manifesto is the most definite promise ever made by the Russian government to undo the wrongs inflicted on Poland a century and a half ago. And if, as is reported, it is supplemented by the extension of full civil and religious rights to the Jews, civilization will have achieved its greatest triumph in Russia.

FAKING THE WAR NEWS

WAR news nowadays is the most eagerly sought commodity in the market, but the quality is about as unsatisfactory as it could be. Thanks to the censorship which encircles all Europe with a blue pencil mark, we learn only what the other suppressors of news want us to have. It isn't much, and it is usually so untrustworthy that the reader cannot safely credit a seemingly important dispatch until it is verified. And four times out of five there is no verification.

For instance: Wednesday morning the New York Herald Service carried a detailed story of a complete German victory at Liege. It began, "Liege has fallen, her forts battered into ruins by heavy German artillery," and declared that the last of them was blown up by the Belgian defenders before their final rout. This was tremendously important if true, but it was not confirmed by the Associated Press, nor by any of the other news-gathering organizations.

Later reports emanating from London denied the story of the fall of the Siegfried forts. The Belgian war office declared they were still holding out, while reports from other sources admitted the capture. And at this writing, nearly forty-eight hours after the first rumor, the matter is still in dispute.

It is hard to see the necessity for such a rigid censorship as has been established throughout Europe. Nobody doubts the importance of preventing the publication of anything that would reveal to an enemy such matters as preparations, movements of troops, etc. But when battle has been fought with decisive results we see no particular reason why the fact should be kept from the world for two or three days.

THE DEATH OF THE POPE

THE death of a pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church is a matter of intimate concern to more people throughout the world than is the passing of any other individual. The Catholic faith has penetrated to every part of every continent and to the remotest islands of the seas, and to countless millions the news of the death of Pope X brings a sense of personal loss.

Undoubtedly the Pope's death was hastened by the sudden outbreak of the greatest war in history. To him it was a source of unmitigated grief, and although in failing health he exerted himself to the utmost to avert the calamity. "In ancient times," he said, "the Pope by a word might have stayed the slaughter, but now he is impotent." His last words were a prayer for peace. But the only lasting peace is the peace that has come to him.

SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY.
From the Chicago Tribune
King credits the American people with the ability to turn a keen untroubled face home to the instant need of thine.
The instant need in America today is to readjust business to the conditions created by the European war.

The first shock of conflict was naturally alarming to all, but a second view shows that America need not be disturbed.

For many years the world has had established their customs and trade routes. These have now been shattered.

Very well then. Establish new customs and new trade routes. It is a clearing house for trade between North and South America.

Picture the sudden paralysis of this clearing house furnishes an opportunity to cut out the middlemen's profits.

It is true that the American manufacturer will lose some of his European market, but all that he has to do is to free himself from the inertia of trade custom and develop the South American field now abandoned by his former competitors.

We are told that there are materials indispensable to American manufacturers that can be obtained only from the warring countries.

We have factories and experts and machinery and chemicals in this country which can be used to produce anything which has been imported from abroad.

In this instance the war will have the effect of an economic re-tariffing tariff guaranteeing the men who will make fortunes, while at the same time helping their countrymen.

We know that South America is going to take vast quantities of finished products from us. Into these finished products must go quantities of materials themselves not to be directly exported.

Individuals and companies intending to engage in the South American trade should proceed immediately to get quotations for their raw materials.

Instead of a partial paralytic of business we have the lifting of prices must be stopped immediately.

Overcharged merchants will endeavor to extend business not to curtail it.

Out of the European catastrophe should grow a tremendous business expansion in the United States. It is for the business men manufacturers and merchants to bring this about.

They can do it.

NARROWING THE "TWILIGHT ZONE"

From the Chicago Herald
Judges Smith and Hook Jr., Sanborn Insuring in the United States district court at St. Paul yesterday, held the International Harvester Company in combination in restraint of trade and ordered the corporation to submit a plan setting aside for its dissolution into at least three independent concerns.

The decision is not, of course, final. Appeal may be taken and, presumably will be. The court arranged, however, that unless a dissolution plan should be submitted within 60 days of an appeal an application would be entertained for the appointment of a receiver for all the properties involved.

The majority ruling holds that the combination violated the law by restraining trade among its members of at least fifteen of its so-called very successful and prosperous in the combination tends to find but why it is itself been done and if the reasons are not sufficient and the thing is worth "rule of reason" the court laid down a doctrine doing to do it.

which seems to narrow somewhat the so-called twilight zone of which uncertainties both the condemners and defenders of "big business" have complained.

If the five companies which formed the International had been small, and their combination had been essential to enable them to compete with large corporations in the same line then their uniting would not, in the light of reason, have been in restraint of trade but in the furtherance of it.

"But when they constituted, the largest manufacturers of their articles in America, if not in the world, and held jointly about 80 to 85 per cent of the trade, and two at least of the companies were prosperous, their combining was, when similarly viewed, an unreasonable restraint of trade."

To many this will sound like saying to business institutions, "You may grow big—but not too big! You may prosper—but only so far!" The court insists, however, that such is not its meaning, and further says:

"There is no limit under American law to which a business may not independently grow, and even a combination of two or more businesses, if it does not restrain trade, is not illegal."

"But it is the combination which unreasonably restrains trade that is illegal, and if the parties in controversy have 80 or 85 per cent of the American business, and by the combination all competition is eliminated between the constituent parts, then it is restraint of trade."

To the lay mind untrained to legal niceties the confusion seems to be that if two business concerns already have about four-fifths of the domestic trade, in these lines, and are prosperous separately, their combination is unlawful no matter what may be the benefits in the way of expanding foreign trade and so on.

But where is the limit above which growth makes combination for more growth unnatural? Some legislators have proposed to fix it at 50 percent. May be we will come to that set. For the present the courts have fixed it at whatever separate growth may add up to 80 to 85 per cent in the proposed combination. That point seems temporarily settled anyhow.

Gifford Pinchot ex-chief forester of the United States and famous as a conservationist is doing all in his power to overthrow the old boss system and make the number of honest equal the number of voters. He is making a personal canvass in every county and conversing with about thousand persons a day in an effort to get enough Progressive votes to defeat A. Mitchell Palmer Democrat, and Boies Penrose Republican, for United States senator.

RICH RUSSIA!

From the Birmingham Ledger

Of all the nations involved in this European war roughly Russia is the only independent one. She has gold mines in Siberia and not a pennyweight of that gold ever gets out of Russia. It is all in the gold vaults of the empire. Russia doesn't have to borrow money for her war. She is the only nation of Europe that does not. Furthermore, Russia has food for her great army. She is the only nation that has. That is to say, she has claimed that she has the money and has the wheat. This war will tell the truth of her claims.

Very well then. Establish new customs and new trade routes. It is a clearing house for trade between North and South America.

Picture the sudden paralysis of this clearing house furnishes an opportunity to cut out the middlemen's profits.

Having sketched this opportunity I waited for response. Instead I was promptly assured if it could have been done someone would have done it long ago.

I could not now make out what conservative measures he was referring to. He said, "We have been so long in this country that we are the only ones who find new ideas."

I wonder if there ever was a greater inventor whose invention was not discredited by wiseacres who told him that the thing couldn't possibly be done.

Contract this far let call a station that will cost between $3 million and $400,000. While all of this money may be spent upon the buildings before the end of this year contracts completed at the beginning of the year will make the total expenditure approximately $400,000.

This sum is less than $3,000,000 above the average for the last 10 years.

The Roman Catholics are among the most active in this season. They are following the return of Africa. The Pope and Pope in multiplying the number of missions in large cities so that their parishes in many cases are too large. In the southern states it is building of small Catholic church is still on.

The Episcopalians are also active. They are building their church in an important city. The church of St. John's report fewer buildings but others than formerly.

New York will spend some $600,000 on Manhattan Island. Chicago has in hand some $800,000 in church projects. The south and southwest, St. Louis, and the Rocky mountain states are in part the largest number of cities although in my case 9 units in each of small.

To the question whether the church is many times larger than it is in from the neighborhood would answer in a affirmative. The church is too large.

It is better to do have one edifice than to have to get rid of three. There is more room in the outside air along their streets or on their premises. No fleas crawl over their food.

In time the people in the poorer portions of town will demand less for their church and the upper classes a proper session of garbage disposal and public protection of food against flies. When they do the pastor from the church of the town will be the alternative.

If you have noticed that the veins in your hands are markedly larger than the veins of other people, then there is a possibility that you are suffering from a disease called varicose veins. If you are suffering from this disease, you should consult a physician.
